Introduction

"The method of political science is the interpretation of life; its instrument is insight, a nice understanding of subtle, unformulated conditions."

(Patron)

The department of Political science and public administration has been part of the IEHE since 1995. The year 2020 marked its glorious silver jubilee. The department is dedicated in seeking and advancing the science of politics and public administration. Making all this possible through teaching and research to the mission of the Institute to provide an environment for enhancing knowledge base, analytical ability, critical interpersonal skills and team spirit to students. The B.A. (honours) course is designed to equip the students with the foundation of the subject. Enabling them to pursue higher studies as well as opt for a suitable career. The department tries the best to keep in tune with the civil services syllabus of the competitive exams. In all those 25 years the department has widened its reach and approach. Introducing M.A. in public administration in 2000 and M.A. in political science in 2014. The P.G course in M.A. in public administration is first of its kind in the capital. After declaration as research centre in 2005, the department is now providing a vibrant PhD programme. Besides the regular teaching. The department has proudly held seminars, panel discussions, workshops, extension lectures and study tour for the students. The Political Science department has progressed gradually initiating various new courses and research programmes, enabling the students and the faculty to carve a distinct niche and explore new frontiers in the academic world. This is proved by the award of director's medal to students of political science in the year 2008-09, 2012-13, 2015-16, 2018-19 and looking forward for more such appreciation.
